Bicriterion scheduling problem in a job shop with parallel processors
A.A. Cenna and M.T. Tabucanon (Bangkok, Thailand) 95
Using Learning theory in assembly lines for new products
E.M. Dar-El and J. Rubinovitz (Haifa, Israel) 103
Loading problem and resource considerations in FMS: a review
K. Shanker (Kanpur, India) and A.K. Agrawal (Varanasi, India) 111
Overview of models and DSS in planning and scheduling of FMS
U.R. Dhar (Guwahati, India) 121
Cycle time models for single/double carousel system
H. Hwang and J.-W. Ha (Seoul, Korea) 129
Flexible part-feeding system for machine loading and assembly. Part I. A state-of-the-art survey
K.-M. Lee (Atlanta, GA, USA) 141
Flexible part-feeding system for machine loading and assembly. Part II. A cost-effective solution
K.-M. Lee (Atlanta, GA, USA) 155
A study on the design of CNC lathe for education and application
J.-D. Kim and M.-H. Kim (Taejon, Korea) 169
The cost of manufacturing toys in the Shenzhen special economic zone of China
J.C.M. Chan, D. Sculli and K. Si (Hong Kong) 181
Planning for technological substitution and change
M.R. Chambers (Brisbane, Qld., Australia) 191
Water resources planning under budgetary uncertainty. The case in Indonesia
Sutardi, T.C.E. Cheng (Winnipeg, MA., Canada) and I. Goulter (Rockhampton, Qld., Australia) 201
